Lasting Literacy Gains
For All Students

Overview

As a school administrator, you play a pivotal role in building a resilient, equitable framework for literacy instruction in your school. This tool kit is designed to empower you with strategies and resources that address the challenges and opportunities that come with creating lasting literacy gains for all students. To address widening gaps in opportunity and reading achievement, school leaders like you can take strategic actions to lay the foundation for long-term success, including:

- Equipping educators with the time and tools they need to support holistic student development—academics alone are not enough.
- Implementing literacy instruction grounded in the science of reading and providing teachers with essential resources and training in Structured Literacy.

The Right Tools in the Right Hands

We know that with the right tools in the right hands, 95% of students can learn to read. But what does this look like in practice?

When it comes to implementation, school leaders can have a major impact by:

- Cultivating an inclusive, literacy-focused school culture.
- Hiring and assigning teachers intentionally and with consideration of the science of reading.
- Creating a professional environment that attracts and retains top teaching talent.
- Providing teachers with actionable feedback and evaluation to enhance instruction.
- Ensuring safe, supportive, and culturally responsive learning spaces for all students.
- Overseeing the selection and purchase of textbooks and instructional programs.
- Streamlining school schedules to minimize disruptions.
- Leading professional development initiatives that support continued teacher growth and deepen the collective understanding of Structured Literacy.

Your strategic involvement ensures support for educators in delivering high-quality, science-based literacy instruction. It also works directly to address learning gaps and dismantle educational inequities so every student has the opportunity to thrive.

The goal of this tool kit is to help you leverage Lexia's suite of products (Lexia® Core5® Reading, Lexia® PowerUp Literacy®, and Lexia English Language Development™) to ensure educators are prepared to meet each student where they are while advancing academic achievement in a tangible and impactful way.

The absence of a Structured Literacy curriculum that is also inclusive presents a significant obstacle to effective teaching, raising concerns among administrators about the quality of education and equity. Recognizing this challenge, your role in actively participating and leading literacy programs becomes indispensable, as you are pivotal in fostering a culture that values educational equity and instructional excellence. The Lexia® suite serves as a foundation for this endeavor. This suite equips you and your teams with:

- Structured Literacy curricula grounded in the science of reading.
